Truitt remembered for vision, tenacity

By LINDA IRELAND Editor

Former Hodgenville Mayor and LaRue County Schools Superintendent Roger L. Truitt died Friday, April 13, while on vacation in North Carolina.

Truitt, 72, had spent the day fishing and playing on the beach with his family. He suffered a massive heart attack that evening at their motel, according to his wife, Ann.

His family called 911 and paramedics revived him. However, he later died at Avon Medical Center.

"He thoroughly enjoyed the week," said Ann. "He was relaxed and laid back. If it had to happen, he couldn't have gone anywhere he was happier."

Ann said living with her husband of nearly 50 years was "an adventure."

"He was really full of life," she said. "He was like his mother – he woke up with a smile on his face ... he thoroughly enjoyed life."

One of his favorite sayings was: "Press on ... that's no hill for a climber," she added.

The Truitts were childhood sweethearts. They met when Ann was in third grade and her family moved to the Truitts' neighborhood in Delaware.

"We went together from seventh grade until he went away to college," she said. The two agreed to see other people while Roger was away. However, they reunited and eventually married while he was in the U.S. Marine Corps.

The couple moved to Kentucky where Truitt graduated from

CHURCHES RECYCLE BUILDINGS BACK INTO COMMUNITY

South Fork volunteers ready 'The Connection'

By RON BENNINGFIELDCorrespondent

South Fork Baptist Church is making a connection in Hodgenville in a building at 512 S. Lincoln Blvd. and on an adjacent, newly constructed soccer field.

"We're always looking for ways to build genuine relationships in order to share and connect people to Christ and His great love," said Rev. Jonathan Carl, South Fork's pastor.

One member of his congregation, the owner of the Hodgenville property, has allowed the church use of the two-story building, which the church has renovated,

Big Brothers Big Sisters recruiting 'Bigs' in LaRue

By CANDIS CARPENTER Staff Writer

hrough the work of Big Brothers Big Sisters of Kentuckiana, children all over the state are being positively impacted by one-to-one unique mentoring relationships. However, some children haven't yet had their chance.

According to Enrollment and Match
Support Specialist Ashley Orr, there are currently four boys and eight girls ranging from ages 10 to 16 waiting to be matched in LaRue County alone, mostly in the Hodgenville and Magnolia areas.

"I am dedicated to the growth of the LaRue County program and I cannot tell you how excited I am to be spreading the word about our need for volunteers," said Orr in an email. "Kids who have Big Brothers and Big Sisters often experience life-long impacts ...

(and) are less likely to use drugs, drop out of school, resort to violence or engage in criminal behaviors."

Mentoring

In the community-based mentoring program, the volunteer mentor, known as the "Big" and child, known as the "Little," are paired based on common interests and compatibility.

As a role model, the "Big" will provide emotional, mental and physical engagement for their "little" through meetings two or three times per month.

"With kids in the community-based program the biggest thing I've seen is a growth in their self-confidence," said Orr.

Each match is unique, but many pairs enjoy bowling, going out to eat, playing sports or attending community events or festivals. This isn't the first time that BBBS has been active in the county, according to Orr. Although there have been a few communitybased pairs, the bulk of involvement was from a school-based program. However, the focus has now shifted and Orr hopes to grow the community-based program through several quality matches.

Volunteer mentoring is fairly simple following a careful screening and background check. Each volunteer is required to attend a two-hour orien-

Seven students named to Governor's Scholars program

By CANDIS CARPENTER Staff Writer

The LaRue County Board of Education met briefly Monday in what was one of the shortest meetings of the year.

There were no reports to be heard and no items listed on the action agenda.

Superintendent Sam Sanders gave a brief update stating that seven of seven Governor Scholar applicants have been chosen from LaRue County High School.

"This is quite a feat," said Sanders. "It's not very common that schools put through that many applicants...even for schools double our size ... and we have done it for a number of years now."

The board recognized members of the LaRue County Middle and High School Speech teams for their numerous awards, the Campbellsville Teaching Award Recipients and the National Board Teaching Recipients.

Sanders also read an announcement from math teacher Rex Hanson stating that the LaRue County High School Rocket Team had qualified for nationals which will be held in Washington, D.C.

Goodtime Cruisers have first classic car 'cruise-in' Saturday

By LINDA IRELAND Editor

The Goodtime Cruisers car club will return to Lincoln Square Saturday evening for the year's first classic car cruise-

Downtown Hodgenville will take on tones and tunes of yestervear as cars and trucks from the 1930s to 1970s park around the square and "oldies but goodies" music from the 1950s and 1960s is played.

Club member Bonnie Wolford said the group hopes for a large turnout of cars and visitors. Last year's largest cruise-in sported about 200 antique cars and trucks.

"I want to remind people that it's a free family event," said Wolford. "We love to see kids there and we want (the love of classic cars) to continue into the next generation."

The event will be held, rain or shine. Streets will close at 4 p.m. Wolford requests that Cruisers avoid parking before that time so downtown shoppers will not be inconvenienced.

Several of the shops around the Square will be open during the cruise-in.

"I hope they'll all be open," Wolford said. "Everyone come out and be ready to have a good time."

There will be a 50/50 drawing and raffle for door prizes.

The cruise will end about 8 p.m.

The Cruisers will host a car show on the third

Saturday of the month through September on Lincoln Square.

The Goodtime Cruisers car club is nonprofit. Wolford said there has been some confusion about other car shows held earlier this year. They were sponsored by individuals or private companies and were not connected with the Cruisers.

Last year, the cruisein was held in conjunction with Free Movie Night, sponsored by the City of Hodgenville and The LaRue County Herald News. There won't be a free movie this weekend, but "Hugo" will be shown May 19, according to City Clerk MaDonna Hornback. For more information about the cruise-in or to join the club, contact Terry Taylor at 358-4597 or visit www.goodtimecruisers.c

New Haven man charged with arson during domestic disturbance

By ERIN MCCOY Landmark News Service

A man allegedly doused a New Haven house in gasoline and threatened to set it on fire during a domestic dispute Tuesday night.

Jonathan Jeffires, 24, reportedly fled when New Haven Police Officer K.C. Holbert arrived at 390 N. First St. around 7:34 p.m., running in the direction of Second Street.

"He was standing in the middle of the street when I got there and had a knife in his hand. When I got there he dropped the knife and took off," Holbert said. "I had a good visual on him the whole time and was catching up to him."

About 100 yards from the house, Holbert sprained his ankle and had to abandon the pur-ing the residence ... he got a visual on Jeffires trying to open a window on the house to gain entry," Holbert said. "Mike Clark ended up in another foot pursuit with him and chased him down."

By 10:34 p.m. Jeffires had been booked at the Nelson County Jail on charges of second-degree arson, first- and seconddegree fleeing or evading police, first-degree wanton endangerment, third-degree terroristic threatening and resisting arrest.

Holbert said he had a kitchen butcher knife and an older-style razor blade, with which he allegedly threatened his wife.

"She made a statement he told her he was going to kill her," Holbert said.

The couple's three children were also in the area, though Holbert was not sure whether they were in the house when the alleged argument occurred. The couple lives in the house, Holbert confirmed.

Jeffires had already allegedly fled by the time 10 members of the New Haven and Rolling Fork fire departments arrived on scene about 7:40 p.m.

New Haven Fire Chief Fred DeWitt estimated Jeffires had used about a half-gallon of gasoline, though it was hard to tell.

"It was pretty much all the way around the house," Rolling Fork Fire Chief Frank Hall

Much of the gasoline was concentrated around the front porch and entrance, DeWitt added.

"He didn't have that much gas there to start with, so we mainly just let it dry. Once it's dry the vapors are gone and the danger is gone," DeWitt explained. "We don't really water it down, because it just spreads it farther."

Holbert went to Flaget Memorial Hospital for treatment after the incident and is now using an air cast and crutches.

Two injured in Buffalo wreck

By CANDIS CARPENTER Staff Writer

Two people were injured following a collision Wednesday afternoon in Buffalo.

The crash occurred around 1 p.m. in front of the Bandit Racing building on Greensburg Road.

According to Sheriff's Deputy Eric Williamson, a juvenile male, driving a 2004 Dodge truck, owned by Zachary Meredith, was attempting to turn left into Bandit Racing when he pulled into the path of a 1992 Dodge car driven by Bradley Beeler, 24, of Mount Sherman.

The juvenile, Eli Meredith, 17, was transported to Hardin Memorial Hospital. According to Eli's mother, Connie Meredith, her son was treated and released.

"He's fine," she said. "He's concerned about the other driver.'

Beeler, who was entrapped in the vehicle, had to be extricated by the Jaws of Life by emergency personnel.

According to Williamson, Beeler was knocked out on impact and suffered from a compound leg fracture. Air Methods transported him from the scene to University of Louisville Hospital where he was listed in stable condition. Buffalo, Magnolia and LaRue County Fire Departments assisted at the scene. Deputy Williamson investigat-

FOOD SERVICE ESTABLISHMENT INSPECTIONS

The following food sanitation inspections were conducted by the LaRue County Health Center. Unannounced inspections observe the overall operation including food source and protection, personnel, food equipment and utensil, maintenance of water and sewage systems, garbage and refuse disposal, insect, rodent and animal control, and storage of toxic items among others. Critical violations, four and five points in weight, if uncorrected carry the potential to be an imminent threat to public health. CANCER SURVIVOR'S STORY

National Donor Registry offers hope for survivor needing bone marrow transplant

As a part of our community's preparation for LaRue County's Relay for Life event on May 11-12 at Hodgenville Elementary School, the local Relay for Life Committee is recognizing individual cancer survivors and their stories. This week, Dwayne Bell, survivor of leukemia, is Volunteering is a way of life for 40-yearold Dwayne Bell of Buffalo. Everyone at Abraham Lincoln Elementary knows Mr. Bell. Whether he is helping Cynthia Patterson, ALES librarian, organize and work the two annual book fairs or reading with one of the many children assigned to him for LaRue County Reads, he is considered to be a regular at the school. But now Mr. Bell needs a volunteer. He needs a bone marrow transplant donor.

His journey began in May 1998 when he was He was originally diagnosed with aplastic anemia, a condition where bone marrow does not produce sufficient new cells to replenish blood cells. After several rounds of chemotherapy, Dwayne considered himself healthy and all was well until another relapse in 2004 when he was officially diagnosed with leukemia. He persevered with more chemotherapy and then went on with his life with wife, Amy, and sons Damon and Dalton

Unable to be in the regular workforce, Dwayne found his calling by volunteering at the school several days a week. His tall, lanky figure and good nature made him an instant hit with the children.

Second grade teacher Heather Hynes said her class has pretty much adopted Dwayne. He even has a "cubbie" for storing his jacket. She fondly remembers a story from a few years ago when the class size grew to the point of no additional cubbies and one student, Victor Helm, readily volunteered to share his space with him. A regular reader in the class with several of Mrs. Hynes' students, Dwayne even stops by for the 100-day party or other holiday celebra-

Then last August, while having one of his regular checkups at James Graham Brown Cancer Center, his doctors told him his body was no longer making the cells he needed for a quality life. As Dwayne puts it, "This time it's all or nothing. I am out of options." Dwayne must have a bone marrow transplant.

Since the school received the news, Family Resource Coordinator Machelle Durham has been searching for ways to assist Dwayne. Her first step was to send an email to the entire school district explaining Dwayne's circumstances and encouraging them to visit the website www.bethematch.org where they could find out about being a bone marrow donor.

Several staff members including Allison McDowell, former teacher of Bell's son, Dalton, applied for a donor kit. She received her packet last week where she swabbed her mouth and sent the sample back to be a part of the donor registry. McDowell, who knows first-hand about the importance of donation as her father needed a heart transplant in 1990, knew this was something she could do.

"I may not be a match for Dwayne, but I have to try. If not him, maybe someone else."

Family members have already been tested for Dwayne, but according to the website, about 70 percent of the bone marrow recipients do not have relative donor and if donors are between the ages of 18 and 44 they are 10 times more likely to be called to donate.

Bone marrow transplants are thought to be a painful process, but the website notes the opposite. It is a surgical procedure, but a general anesthesia is used and donors feel no pain during the needle injection or extraction with the special hollow needle. Donors may feel some pain in the lower back for a few days after the extraction, but those who have donated say it is a small price to pay for giving another person a chance at life.

Dwayne has been on the National Donor Registry for about six weeks and is still waiting for his life changing phone call saying he has a match. He says his strong faith and belief that he will get the call any day now keeps him going. Could his match be right here in LaRue County? Check out www.bethematch.org or call 1-800-marrow2 (1-800-627-7692).

United Way exceeds goal United Way of Central Kentucky's 2011 Campaign, which funds nonprofits in Breckinridge, Grayson, Hardin, Meade and LaRue Counties, concluded in February. Our annual fundraising drive, which began late last summer, yielded some truly fantastic results that would not have been possible without your support. With that said, on behalf of our board of directors and staff, as well as each individual and family impacted by United Way's work, thank you.

The 2011 Campaign goal was $1,025,000, with a previous fundraising record of $1,013,779 raised in 2007. By setting our goal higher than ever before, we took into consideration two key factors: 1) We understood that many of our families, neighbors, coworkers and friends continue to experience undue hardships. 2) As a part of a tremendously generous and caring community, we were confident that when our fellow citizens learned of the unnecessary suffering, they would respond to the challenge. As an interconnected and interdependent communeed increases the qualnity, helping those in ity of life for all. We are very pleased to share with you that because of your incredible generosity and support, our United Way reached new heights by raising $1,031,336; exceeding last year's total by more than $85,000. More than 100 companies and organizations offered workplace giving campaigns to their employees, with more than half showing increases in total donations. In addition, 24 new companies contributed to our campaign's success. Through your financial support, time, talent, as well as your voice, you made the improbable possible. We are truly humbled by the generosity of every individual and corporate donor, with gifts ranging from gifts of $1 to $10,000. Furthermore, this success would not have been possible without many wonderful in kind donations; including airtime from HCEC-TV, WQXE and Brandenburg Telecom, coverage from The LaRue County Herald News and raffle items donated by so many local organizations. In the end, everyone's support added up, resulting in hope and an opportunity for a better tomorrow in our community and region.

Lastly, thank you for helping make this community one of the best places to live. Our nonprofit organizations are the fabric of our existence, and your support of United Way helps ensure the strength of our region moving forward. As United Way of Central Kentucky embarks on our 10th anniversary of what we call "Building Brighter Futures, a Decade of Difference," we hope that our community will continue to engage in our work; which will create a better, stronger region for all of us to live in. To join the Live United movement today, call 270-737-6608.

Summersville Fire Department gets 36x50-feet addition among other things. Plans are to have the community center completed within a short time.

The original fire department, built in 1988, and the new addition will bring the total usable space to 50 ft. x 126 ft.

According to Matt Goodin, assistant fire chief, plans are to have trainings for state firefighter certification at the center.

The project started, according to him, as a result of the local department being usable to provide space for a local pageant.

Investors ask the local department if an addition could be built if they helped raise the money. Goodin said that the investors, along with fire department members, set about raising money for the new center.

Glenn Milby of Farmyard Rescue, Allendale, provided his crane service to help set the trusses for the new structure.

Donations of time or money have come from Jimmy Berry, Matney Construction, Rick Penick, Lobb Brothers Concrete, Jim Tom Milby, John Milby, Atmos Energy, Patterson's Body Shop and Goodin Masonry.

Wiring was also provided by a local resident.

Construction of a new community center to the Summersville Fire Department is presently in progress.

"What we wanted to do is to build a center to show the community that money donated to the fire department has been put to good use," Goodin said.

The caring nature of the staff at Golden Living Center-Green Hill is evident in their day-to-day operations. "The staff is very caring and compassionate. They work together as a team," Roberts said.

'By this you will know'

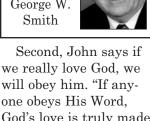

Paul tells the Corinthians to "Test yourselves to see if you are in the faith; examine yourselves" (II Corinthians 13:5). The Bible is very specific in describing what is required to be "in the faith."

John says that if we really love God there will be four results of this love and it will show if we are in the faith.

First, we will know God and God will know us. "We know that we have come to know Him if we obey His commands" (1 John 2:3). This is a personal relationship with Christ established when we repent of our sins and trust Christ as our personal savior.

one obeys His Word, God's love is truly made complete in Him. This is how we know we are in Him" (1 John 2:5). Jesus said, "If you love me, you will keep my commandments" (John 14:15).

The third result of loving God is that we love the brethren. "Dear friends, since God so loved us, we ought also to love one another" (1 John 4:11). John repeats this over and over again. He says, "If someone says, 'I love God,' yet he hates his brother, he is a liar. For anyone who does not love his brother, whom he has seen cannot love God whom he has not seen" (1 John 4:20). If we love God, we will love each other.

John says the fourth result of loving God is that we will abide in him (1 John 4:15-16). Jesus said, "I am the vine; you are the branches. If a man remains in me and I in him, he will bear much fruit; apart from me you can do nothing" (John 15:5). We, as a branch, receive life from the vine, Jesus Christ. Apart from him we can do nothing.

Meet Demetrius and Rheanna Demetrius (05/95) and Rheanna (05/96) are brother and sister. They usually get along well. Demetrius is the leader of the two and Rheanna is the follower. Demetrius receives help at school for academics and behavior. He is very talkative and has an offbeat sense of humor. He enjoys playing with younger children or alone and has a very vivid imagination. Demetrius is often happy and affectionate. Rheanna has a good sense of humor, but she is often quiet and shy around those she does not know. She gets along well with the other kids in her foster home as well as with foster parents' young grandchildren. She is a generally happy, well-behaved young lady, both at home and at school. Rheanna's favorite foods include cheese pizza, hot dogs, and tacos. Demetrius and Rheanna need a loving, permanent family who will always be there for them, and support their journey toward becoming independent adults.

Impact of diabetes will catch you later in life

Are you at risk for diabetes? Everyone should be aware of the risk factors for type 2 diabetes. People who are overweight, under active (living a sedentary lifestyle) and over the age of 45 should consider themselves at risk for the disease. African Americans, Hispanics, Native Americans, Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders and people who have a family history of the disease also are at an increased risk for type 2 diabetes.

Unfortunately, diagnosis often comes 7 to 10 years after the onset of the disease, after disabling and even deadly complications have had time to develop. Early diagnosis is critical to successful treatment and delaying or preventing some of its complications such as heart disease, blindness, kidney disease, stroke, amputation and death.

Take charge of your health. Studies have shown that type 2 diabetes can often be prevented or delayed by losing just seven percent of body weight, such as 15 pounds if you weigh 200. Regular physical activity such as 30 minutes a day, 5 days a week can help along with healthy eating. By understanding your risk, you can take the necessary steps to help prevent the onset of type 2 diabetes.

Make mealtime family time

One of the fondest memories of my childhood is that of my entire family sitting down almost every evening for a nice meal together. It was a great opportunity for us to talk about the day's events and stay connected with each other. For most families these days it is hard to make time for family meals for many reasons. But the benefits of sharing a meal together are tremendous for both parents and kids.

Many studies have been done to show the benefits of family mealtime. Families who frequently share meals together are healthier families. Studies show that kids tend to eat more fruits, vegetables and dairy products at meals shared with parents. They also learn how to choose more nutritious foods.

Social skills are also improved at family mealtime. Kids learn language development, table manners and conversation skills. It has also been shown that regular family mealtime leads to greater academic achievement, improved reading skills and test scores.

Family mealtime does not have to be complicated or expensive. With today's busy schedules, it isn't always possible to have everyone present for a family meal. One adult and one child can have a family mealtime. In addition, family mealtime does not always have to be at the kitchen table. Have a picnic at the soccer field or a "tailgater" in the

Let each family member plan a day's menu.

This will satisfy everyone's taste buds and allow for creativity. Remember to make a list of quick family favorites for those extra hectic times. Children learn basic cooking skills and to appreciate a variety of foods when they are involved in meal preparation. Rotate mealtime responsibilities, such as setting the table and clean up. Try to have a meal with your family at least several days of the week. The benefits will out weigh the efforts and these positive childhood memories will be cherished for life.

New state laws go into effect mid-July

The Kentucky General Assembly's 2012 session came to a close last week, marking the end of a session in which lawmakers approved the state's next two-year budget and boosted efforts to stop the spread of methamphetamine labs.

This was the 60th working day of the session and the final one allowed by the state constitution. The session started on Jan. 3.

Approved bills will go into effect in mid-July, except those that specify a different effective date or include an emergency clause that allows them to take effect immediately upon being signed by the governor.

Legislation approved during the 2012 session includes measures on the following topics:

Blue Alert. SB 32

will establish a statewide emergency alert system to catch those suspected of injuring a police officer. The "Blue Alert" system, which is modeled after the Amber Alert system, will use law enforcement communication systems, electronic highway signs and media to spread information to catch perpetrators after an officer has been reported wounded or missing. Budget. HB 265 will guide more than $19 billion in state spending for the next two fiscal years and, in recognition of lean times, will impose 8.4 percent spending cuts on many state agencies and reduce state support for universities by 6.4 percent. Key areas such as Medicaid, corrections, and base school funding are protected from the cuts. The budget includes $21 million to hire additional social workers, $4 million to enhance the state pre scription monitoring KASPER system, and $1 million for a colon cancer screening program.

Coal mine safety. HB 385 will enforce new rules for miners who fail drug or alcohol tests. Offenders will be ineligible to hold mining licenses or certificates for three years. Penalties are more severe for repeat offenders. The legislation also outlines an appeals process for suspended miners. Coal truck drivers.

Vernie McGaha, R-Russell Springs, follow testimony in a budget conference committee. The conference committee is charged with ironing out differences between the House and Senate versions of the state's two-year spending plan.

HB 411 will designate the Monday of the fourth week in August as Coal Truck Driver Appreciation Day.

Concealed deadly weapons. HB 484 will allow Kentuckians to carry concealed weapons on their property or place of business, if they are the sole proprietors, without a license.

Copper theft. HB 390 will help curb theft of copper and other valuable metals by ensuring thieves don't get immediate cash for the stolen goods at recycling centers. Instead, after showing proof of ownership, a check will be mailed to those selling certain metals to recycling centers. The legislation will also ensure that recycling centers receive reports on recently stolen metal items in the area so they can be on the lookout. The bill does not affect individuals recycling aluminum cans.

Confederate pensions. HB 85 will remove from the law books outdated language regarding pensions for Confederate soldiers.

Consumer protection. HB 421 will protect homeowners from being defrauded by pro viding a five-day grace period to cancel a signed roofing contract if the homeowner's insurance policy does not cover the repair work.

Diplomas. SB 43 will provide diplomas to students with disabilities who finish modified high school curriculums. The diploma will replace the certificate of completion the students currently receive.

Election costs. HB 293 will save money on election costs if only one candidate is running in a special election. The legislation is named the "Dewayne Bunch Act" in honor of a former state legislator who was seriously injured last year while breaking up a fight among students at the school where he taught.

Emergency room safety. SB 58 will allow officers to make arrests for misdemeanor assault with probable cause if the crime occurs in a hospital emergency room. Under current law, emergency rooms aren't exempt from the requirement that an officer must witness a misdemeanor assault in order to make an arrest.

Ethics. HB 402 will allow the Executive Branch Ethics Commission to share evidence with the state Personnel Board or the Auditor of Public Accounts if the information is needed for the agencies' investigations. For-profit postsecondary schools. HB 308 will establish a new panel to regulate private for-profit colleges and universities in Kentucky. The legislation will replace the Kentucky Board for Proprietary Education with the Kentucky Commission on Proprietary Education and will limit the schools' membership to four seats. The legislation also calls for the creation of a compensation fund (paid for by the industry) for grievances of eligible Kentucky students and a revised student complaint review process. Horse-drawn buggies. SB 75 will allow drivers of horse-drawn buggies and other motorless vehicles to substitute reflective tape for the traditional orange safety emblem typically affixed to the back of those vehicles. The bill was filed in response to legal action taken against a group of Amish men in far west Kentucky who were arrested for refusing to use the orange emblem, citing religious concerns with the emblem's shape and bright color.

Judicial budget. HB 269 will guide judicial branch spending for the next two fiscal years. Like much of the executive branch budget, it will impose 8.4 percent spending cuts.

Juvenile offenders. House Concurrent Resolution 129 will establish a task force to study the state's juvenile code. The task force will look at issues relating to status offenders those who commit acts that don't rise to the level of crime such as skipping school – and the feasibility of establishing an age of criminal responsibility, as well as other issues. The task force will submit a report on its work to lawmakers by Jan. 7, 2013.

Legislative budget. HB 268 will guide legislative branch spending for the next two fiscal years. Like much of the executive branch budget, it will impose 8.4 percent spending cuts.

Meth labs. SB 3 will boost efforts to stop production of methamphetamines by tightening rules on the purchase of certain cold and allergy medicines that contain an ingredient needed to make meth. The legislation will decrease the current monthly overthe-counter purchase limit of ephedrine and pseudoephedrine in pill or tablet forms from 9 grams to 7.2 grams and impose a 24-gram yearly limit. The measure will also replace the papertracking system currently in place for the purchase of medicines containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine with a mandatory electronic system that will allow more real-time tracking.

National Guard Assistance Program. HB 224 will make Kentucky National Guard members eligible for financial assistance to help pay child adoption costs.

Personal-care homes. SB 115 will require a medical examination that includes a medical history, physical examination and diagnosis prior to admission to a personal-care home.

POW/MIA flags. HB 121 will require Prisoner of War and Missing in Action flags purchased or displayed by public institutions to be made in the United

School athletics. HB 281 will require interscholastic coaches to complete training on recognizing and treating head injuries, including concussions. The bill also outlines actions required before an athlete with a head injury may return to play.

School facilities. SB 110 will make it easier for school districts to allow community access to school facilities for recreational use during non-school hours by protecting the schools from liability in cases where an injury occurs.

Seat belts. SB 89 will expand Kentucky's seat belt law to include 15-person passenger vans. The bill was filed in response to a 2010 crash on I-65 near Munfordville that killed 11 people, most of whom weren't wearing seat belts. Current state law only requires seat belt use in vehicles designed to carry 10 or fewer passengers.

Speed limits. HB 439 will allow the Transportation Cabinet to increase the speed limit on I-69 in Western Kentucky to 70 miles per hour.

Students. SB 24 requires children to be five years old by August 1 rather than October 1 to enter public school kindergarten classes and six years old by the same date to start first grade. The new requirements take effect in the 2017-2018 school year. Synthetic drugs. HB 481 will widen the current state ban on synthetic drugs, including those sold as bath salts by some convenience stores. The legislation expands the state's ban by including whole classes of the drugs rather than specific ingredients so that manufacturers can't get around the ban by changing a single ingredient.

Tax amnesty. HB 499 will establish a tax amnesty program to be held during the 2012-2013 fiscal year to help collect unpaid taxes.

Unemployment insurance. HB 495 will give the state a financing mechanism to generate funds needed for interest payments on the state's federal unemployment insurance loan, thereby protecting a $600 million tax credit for business-

Veterans' licenses. HB 221 will allow veterans to have their service designated on driver's licenses and state identification cards. The designations will make it easier for veterans to show proof of service needed for various discounts and special services available to them.

War memorial. HB 256 will establish a committee responsible for oversight of construction and upkeep of an Iraq/Afghanistan War Memorial.

Wild hogs. HB 344 will impose stiffer penalties on those who release feral hogs into the wild. The state's growing feral pig population is a threat to farmland, natural habitats and human health, experts say.

Hawks continue winning ways

Junior Cole Hughes threw a two-hitter to lead the LaRue County Hawks to a 3-1 win over host Fort Walton Beach (Fla.) on Wednesday in the Florida Beach Bash.

Hughes (4-0) struck out eight while allowing one unearned run, two walks and two singles.

"It was a great outing," said LaRue County coach Chris Price. "He's been that solid all year; he just hasn't thrown against a very good team until tonight. It was good to see."

The Hawks (10-3) scored all their runs in the top of the second on two wild pitches and a squeeze play.

Senior Slade Owens gained first when he was hit by a pitch and advanced to second when the catcher fumbled the ball. He advanced to third on a bunt by senior Wesley Kessinger.

Kessinger stole second, advanced to third on the throw and scored on David Masure's sacrifice bunt; senior Trevor Skaggs walked and later scored on a wild pitch.

Fort Walton's only score came in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Sophomore Austin McDowell and Hughes each had a single.

he's ever seen. Choctaw led 11-0 after three innings en route to handing LaRue County its worst loss of the season. The Hawks have been shut out once this season, but they haven't been mercyruled since a 14-0 setback to 5th Region rival Elizabethtown on May 12, 2009.

Owens and Johnson each had a single for LaRue County, which was held to two hits and committed four errors.

Spencer

Owens had three singles, a double, four RBIs and a run to lead the Hawks over Spencer County, 17-1, in the Florida Beach Bash.

Seniors providing leadership for Hawks' tennis

By RON BENNINGFIELDCorrespondent

With four senior girls who first-year co-coach Allison McDowell describe as "great leaders," and with a boys' squad that, at least in the top three spots, returns with plenty of experience, the LaRue County High School tennis teams are in the midst of their season with the girls' squad even with six wins and six losses while the boys

(Michelle Seymour, Nancy Howell, Paige Nalley and Amelia Miller) are solid players and have lots of experience playing," said McDowell, a kindergarten teacher at Abraham Lincoln Elementary School who co-coaches with Roger Pierce.

Seymour is the number one singles player; Howell is at number two. A freshman, Amanda Adyani is at number three.

Top doubles include Miller and Nalley.
Junior Haylee Best is teaming with freshman Madison Lee at the number two spot.

teams with sophomore Trevor Sanders at the top doubles spot while another senior, Lucas Pepper, partners with sophomore Kyler Hart for the number two duo.

Juniors Tyler Skaggs and Ryan Hornback are playing in doubles exhibitions. Other boys seeing action include Austin McCreery and Josh Adams.

"Zachary is an excellent leader," said McDowell. "The top few have quite a bit of experience, but the farther down you get, the less experience. After number two singles and doubles, a lot of work is needed. They need to play as much as they can."

McDowell expects Marion County's boys, Elizabethtown's boys and girls, and Central's boys and girls to be the top regional contenders. LaRue County Plays adult literacy from 1990 until her death in 1999, matching tutors with those wanting to learn to read.

"She was one of a kind and truly had a servant's heart; everyone loved her – staff, parents and students," said Devers. "She was always smiling and so giving; whether it was a migrant parent or child event or an adult learning to read, Judy really believed in what she did and was willing to work as many hours as needed to accomplish her goals."

In 1999, the Literacy, Adult, and Community Education Council wanted to recognize Cox, who was the first recipient (posthumously) with an annual award in her honor. "We looked at her life

Union College. He later received his master's degree from Eastern Kentucky University and Rank I from Western Kentucky University. Schools

The Truitts arrived in Hodgenville in 1966 when he was hired as physical fitness coordinator for LaRue County Schools. He and Terry Sandidge began a gymnastics club.

He later served eight years as assistant principal at LaRue County High School and three years as football coach. He was promoted to assistant superintendent and director of transportation and maintenance before being named superintendent in 1991. He served four years in that capacity, overseeing the installation of air conditioning in all schools, the installation of phones in every classroom, construction of the new high school and bus garage and renovation of the middle school campus.

LaRue County Schools developed the first strategic planning committee in the area during Truitt's tenure, said Rita T. Williams, a former school board and city council member.

"It was a five-year plan, listing the order in which things needed to be done," she said. "Everyone now has a mission statement, but then, we were the first anywhere to have a plan. He did have a vision of what he wanted to see done."

"(His death) was just a shock to everybody," added Williams. "I worked with him so many years through school, church and the city. He was always looking to do something to make things better. He's going to be missed by the community, whether they realize it now or not." City

A few years after resigning as superintendent, Truitt ran for city council at the request of his friend, the late mayor Darrell Florence. When Florence died shortly after being sworn in for his second term in 2003,

Truitt was appointed to fulfill the term.

He hit the ground running.

During his term as mayor, he completed a sewer project that was started by his predecessor, completed Creekfront Park, pushed through an insurance surtax that funded streets, fire department and Main Street and laid the groundwork for Lincoln Square to become a roundabout during the Lincoln Bicentennial.

Truitt wasn't afraid to tackle any project, Williams said.

"He was determined and he would work day and night to get things done," Williams said. Truitt could be forceful once he made up his mind, Williams said. Some people did not like his style. However, he was unfailingly courte-

"You always knew where you stood with him," she said.

Truitt lost his bid for a full term in 2006 and did not re-enter local politics.

Marine Corps

Truitt was proud of his service in the U.S. Marine Corps, said Ronnie Benningfield, who worked with Truitt many years in the school system.

"As assistant superintendent, I met with Roger frequently during working hours," said Benningfield. "During those times, I remember two quotations that Roger often recited that were among his favorites and which he set as goals to live and die by.

"Roger never forgot that tour of duty and always spoke respectfully of the traits he had learned while in the service. As a formerand-forever 'Jarhead,' as he liked to call himself, he wasn't one to be wishy-washy, but would tell a person what he thought ... quickly. He believed in 'getting the 10b done, and to that end he often recited a quote attributed to Theodore Roosevelt:

It is not the critic who counts, not the one who points out how the strong man stumbled or how the doer of deeds might have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred with sweat and dust and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes up short time and time again; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, and spends himself a worthy cause; who if he wins knows the triumph of high achievement; and who, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory or defeat.

"His other oft-cited quotation came from a stanza of William Cullen Bryant's 'Thanatopsis,' a verse that during Roger's basic training, his drill sergeant had him repeat to his fellow recruits:

So live that when thy summons comes to join the innumerable caravan that moves to that mysterious realm, where each shall take his chamber in the silent halls of death, thou go not, like the quarry-slave at night, scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothedby an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave, like one who wraps the drapery of his couchabout him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.After learning of Truitt's death, friends and family attempted to sum up his character:

"If he gave his word, he was going to do it." "A man of vision."

"A 'big picture' kind of "The 'little tank."

"The man who brought air conditioning to LaRue County Schools." And ... "just a good man." Truitt and his wife Ann would have celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary June 2. Other survivors include his son, Larry Truitt; daughter, Lori Truitt; two grandchildren, Shelby and Benjamin; and his s ter, Loveyann Calloway of Maryland.

A memorial service will be held 2 p.m. Friday, April 20, at Bennett-Bertram Funeral Home in Hodgenville with burial to follow in Red Hill Cemetery.

Visitation begins at funeral home.

BOND

and was preparing to move Allen's body from the scene.

White, according to court documents, was a passenger in the Camry when Kolley was seen leaving the residence. He is accused of asphyxiating Allen. Kolley's bond was set at $200,000 in February

by Circuit Judge John David Seav. Monday, Seay modified the bond to $15,000 cash only with the requirement that Kolley report to the pretrial officer as scheduled, not use alcohol or illegal drugs, not possess any type of weapon, be subject to random drug and alcohol testing, refrain from contact with White or any codefendant or any of their family members or known associates, reside at only the residence shown on pretrial services records, not travel outside the state and not use the telephone or Internet between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Kolley will be credited for $100 for each day she remains in jail prior to trial that may be used as payment toward bail.

According to court records, pretrial services recommended the court deny a reduction in bond "because at the time the court issued a warrant for defendant's arrest on the amended indictment, (Kolley) had been absent for several days from the residence location (she) had provided to pretrial services."

Judge Seay said Kolley was charged with Class C or Class D felonies "and thus defendant is entitled to some relief."

Kolley's $50,000 bond was posted by a relative in January, shortly after she had been charged only with theft of the vehicle. She was later charged with the other counts.

The Commonwealth Attorney's office protested the bond reduction, saying that Kolley posed a flight risk.

"Our office is against such a low bond for someone attempting to get rid of a dead body and helping someone accused of murder flee the scene," said Assistant Commonwealth

Bond for White remains at $2 million cash only.

Attorney Whitney

Meredith.

Pre-trial for Kolley and White has been set for June 29. Trial by jury is July 9.

The indictment of a person by a grand jury is an accusation only and the person is innocent unless and until proven guilty.

'The Connection' because of our desire to connect with our community in order to connect them to Christ," Carl said. "Our church has a deep love for the families, youth and children of our community which is the heart of 'The Connection.

The location is being used to reach out to the community across all ages through recreation, fellowship, tutorials and Bible studies, according to Carl.

"The Connection has been a vision of some of our church members for years, but specific planning took place last summer with many people pitching in on improvements which they began in August."

donations or volunteers interested in connecting people with Christ." The soccer field has been seeded and should be ready for play in late summer or early fall, according to Carl. The church has renovated the inside of the community center to a pristine condition and has added games such as foosball and table tennis, a television, new flooring, freshly painted walls, music and food.

The Connection is up and running on Saturdays (6:30-8:30 p.m. – Hispanic Focus), Sundays (5-7 p.m. -Youth Focus) and Thursdays (4:30-7 p.m. – children and youth).

"Our Hispanic ministry is led by Pastor Pino with Faith Baptist Church in Elizabethtown who, in one and a half months here has already seen his congregation increase to an average of 30 people," said Carl.

Dewayne Gibson, South Fork's student pastor, sees The Connection as an outreach ministry opportunity for the youth at his church.

"Our youth come here and we go through the neighborhood inviting the kids here to join us," Gibson said. "We'll have a short devotional, plus we'll usually have some food available such as hot dogs and then they enjoy basketball on our courts here or the games inside."

"We would love for other local churches to partner with us and send some volunteers so that we can open the center more days each week," he said.

estimates on what it would cost to renovate the gymnasium.

"The gym had been shored up a few years ago, but it is still an old building," Troutman said. "It has suffered quite a bit of water damage and one of the corners has rotted out."

Brewer presented an estimate of $19,000, mainly for materials, to put the gym back in operation. Since the church approved the renovation in mid-March, Brewer and church member and youth worker Eric Seidl have spearheaded the project.

They have already installed two bathrooms, added running water, a septic system, repaired a forced-air furnace and are bringing the plumbing and wiring to code.

"It's really great how people and businesses have joined in to help with the renovation," Brewer said. "Four or five businesses have donated materials and offered discounts on others, members have given money in memory of loved ones, and even some non-members who have friends who grew up in Buffalo have donated."

With an expected completion date of the end of May or early June, Brewer said he has enjoyed visits by several former Buffalo students and athletes who have come to see the progress and to vicariously relive their playing days.

"It's neat when they tell me of the things they did in the gym," he said.

He's inviting Buffalo alumni to lend memorabilia such as jerseys and pictures for a grand opening to be held soon after renovation is completed.

Fulfilling a need

Troutman sees the gymnasium as fulfilling a need for the area's young people.

"It will be basically a basketball gym that will give the youth of the community a place to go not only for spiritual mentoring but also for physical recreation," he said. "We also want it to provide a place where our youth can interact contained classrooms which the college used," Meers said. "When they separated the two buildings, they moved a section that became a lunchroom on the bottom floor and Masonic and Eastern Star lodge above, and the other part became a gym." Buffalo resident Roscoe Duncan, 82, entered school at Buffalo the first year it opened in 1936, and witnessed the gym's being moved several hundred feet to its current location. "Lawrence Willian and Tom Brooks cut some trees and used the logs as rollers for the gym," he recalled.

The two men hitched chains to the gym and to their tractors. They pulled the building onto the logs, letting them act as rollers as the building inched along.

Meers explained that the men used snatch blocks, which moved the heavy structure very slowly, but allowed the John Deere and International tractors to pull more efficiently.

"The way the snatch blocks were set up, the tractors would move about 200-feet while moving the building only inches," he recalled.

Local music producer Joel Ray Sprowls and Lincoln Jamboree drummer Charles Durham both played basketball in the gym, Sprowls in the 1940s and Durham in the 1950s.

"When we played ball, Charlie McLain kept score with a piece of chalk and a chalkboard," Sprowls recalled. "Toward the end of a game, he would watch the timekeeper and write down on the board how much time remained."

Sprowls remembered

hearing old timers tell of a game in the days before the three-pointer and possession arrow when one team beat the other 19-2.

"They said the boy that scored the two points went into the dressing room bragging that he was high-point man," Sprowls said. "His teammates kicked him out of the gym."

Durham recalled his playing days when a big pot-bellied stove stood at each end of the gym and how if a player went out of bounds, he was in the bleachers.

"To signal the end of a quarter, they had an automobile brake drum which they'd hit with a hammer," he said.

Storm victims urged to stay in touch with FEMA'

"Stay in touch with FEMA" is the message federal and state officials here are stressing to Kentuckians affected by the recent tornadoes. Applicants need to stay in touch with the Federal Emergency Management Agency and update their contact information as it changes.

"Unfortunately, if we can't find you, we can't provide the assistance you need," said Libby Turner, FEMA federal coordinating officer for the Kentucky recovery effort.

In the aftermath of a disaster, survivors who have lost their homes often move a number of times as they look for suitable housing.

Sometimes in that process, they may forget to update their contact information with FEMA. Being out of contact can delay a damage inspector's visit or even slow down a check and delay a family's recovery.

Survivors can update contact information, file an appeal or discuss costs for repairs which may have exceeded an estimate or ask other questions by calling the FEMA Helpline 800-621-FEMA (3362) from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Multilingual assistance is available. Those who are deaf, hard of hearing or who have a speech disability may use TTY 800-462-7585. Those who use 711 or Video Relay Service should call 800-621-3362.

All survivors who registered for assistance with FEMA are urged to update their mailing address with the U.S. Postal Service by calling 800-275-8777. Change of address forms also are available at any post office.

Some of the trees were in a fence row; others were in residential expressed regret at the loss of trees that have provided shade for their homes for decades.

The tree trimming is part of a major line upgrade that Nolin RECC will be working on this year, according to Vince Heuser, vice president of system operations at Nolin.

Nolin will be installing 168 new poles in the LaRue County

The trees are making way for larger poles leading to the power substation in Ovesen Heights.

"This major upgrade will provide greater reliability with electric service. The stronger and heavier poles and wire should result in fewer outages during extreme weather," Heuser said.
